EnergyTouch Healing helps you achieve a state of well being.

The EnergyTouch work is unique among energy healing modalities because it accesses levels of very high and fine vibration. It is effective in conditions that are extremely challenging to the medical world. In some cases, life-threatening diseases, severe injuries and birth defects have been treated and reversed using the EnergyTouch Healing work. EnergyTouch Healing works outside of the usual time-space continuum and affects cellular function. Some conditions may be reversed that were previously thought to be incurable.

"It is my great honor and pleasure to have been taught EnergyTouch Healing work and to be able to integrate it with Western medicine. We are living in an exciting time when we can take a leap forward in our ability to help those in need."

Surgery

EnergyTouch Healing work has been used successfully to complement the surgical process. Healing in conjunction with surgery has been seen to promote faster healing, reduce pain, and reduce complications. Recovery times are improved. Many people are able to have a more meaningful healing through the surgical process, by understanding the emotional and spiritual components of their issue. WomanCare offers sessions with Certified EnergyTouch Healers to patients who are to undergo surgery. These sessions are appropriate pre and/or post operative. Some of our EnergyTouch Healers are available to do energy healing in the operating room concurrent with surgery. If you are interested in exploring this healing modality, call the numbers listed below. (For intra-operative healing, prior arrangements with the healer and surgeon are necessary.)

What are energy sessions like?

The sessions are approximately one hour in length. They are performed in a quiet room with the client fully clothed and the lights low. The healer may talk or meditate with the client and lightly touch the body and surrounding energy field, including the energy centers (chakras). The client may feel sensations of heat, cold, energy waves through the body or may simply feel a sense of relaxation. Clients may experience a sense of well-being or insight. Results may become apparent over time. More than one session may be advisable.
